General Principles Governing Trustees

Duty of care and duty of good faith

7(1) In discharging his or her duties and exercising his or her powers, a trustee shall exercise that degree of care, skill and diligence that a person of ordinary prudence would exercise, having regard to the skill, experience and qualifications of the trustee.

(2) If a trustee possesses, or because of his or her profession or business ought to possess, a particular level of knowledge or skill that in all the circumstances is relevant to the administration of the trust, the trustee shall employ that particular level of knowledge or skill in the administration of the trust.

- (3) A trustee shall administer the trust:
- (a) in good faith; and
 - (b) in accordance with:
 - (i) its terms and purposes;
 - (ii) the interests of the beneficiaries of the trust; and
 - (iii) this Act.

2009, c.T-23.01, s.7.

Certain trustees who are remunerated may not be relieved from duty of care

8 If a trustee receives remuneration to administer the trust and holds out that he or she possesses special skills or knowledge relevant to the administration of the trust, any clause in a trust that relieves that trustee from the obligation to exercise the duty of care set out in this Act is invalid.

2009, c.T-23.01, s.8.

Conflicts of interest prohibited

9 A trustee shall discharge the trustee's duties and exercise the trustee's powers solely in the interests of the beneficiaries of the trust and, without limiting the generality of the foregoing, a trustee shall not knowingly permit a situation to arise:

- (a) in which the trustee's interest conflicts in any way with the discharge of the trustee's duties and the exercise of the trustee's powers; or
- (b) in which the trustee may derive a personal benefit or a benefit for any other person, except so far as the law or the trust instrument expressly permits.

2009, c.T-23.01, s.9.

Court may allow conflicts of interest

10(1) On application to the court, if it is shown that it would not be detrimental to the trust or its beneficiaries, and whether or not any beneficiary withholds consent, the court may make an order:

- (a) permitting a trustee to act notwithstanding that a trustee may be in a position that contravenes the trustee's duty to avoid a conflict of interest; or
- (b) excusing a trustee from liability notwithstanding that the trustee may be in breach of trust for having acted while in a position that contravened the trustee's duty to avoid a conflict of interest.

(2) The court may impose any terms and conditions that the court considers just on an order made pursuant to this section.

2009, c.T-23.01, s.10.

Power to employ agents

11(1) If it is reasonable and prudent to do so, a trustee may engage one or more persons as agents to carry out any act required to be done in the administration of the trust, including:

- (a) executing documents;
- (b) paying, transferring, receiving and investing money or other property; and

- (a) personally select the agent;
- (b) be satisfied as to the agent's suitability to perform the act for which the agent is to be engaged; and
- (c) carry out a reasonable and prudent supervision of the agent.

(4) A trustee is liable for loss caused by the default of an agent only if:

- (a) the trustee is in breach of subsection (3); and
- (b) the loss is a consequence of that breach.

(5) A trustee shall not engage a co-trustee as an agent unless the engagement would have been reasonable and prudent if the co-trustee had not been a co-trustee.

(6) A trustee who has engaged an agent may authorize the agent in writing to engage another person to carry out any act for which the agent was engaged, unless the trust instrument expressly prohibits the trustee from authorizing the engagement of a sub-agent.

2009, c.T-23.01, s.11.

Powers and duties of surviving trustees

12 If a power is conferred or a duty imposed on two or more trustees jointly, the power may be exercised, and the duty may be discharged, by the survivor or survivors of the trustees.

- (4) Subsection (3) applies whether or not a substitute trustee is appointed pursuant to this section.

- (a) a trustee who has disclaimed the trust in writing; or

2009, c.T-23.01, s.16.

Powers of new trustee

17 A trustee appointed pursuant to this Act has the same power, authority and discretion, and may in all respects act, as if the trustee had been originally appointed as a trustee by any instrument creating the trust both before and after all the trust property is vested in that trustee.

2009, c.T-23.01, s.17.

Effect of instrument

18 An instrument appointing or removing a trustee pursuant to section 15 is conclusive evidence of the validity of the appointment or discharge in favour of a purchaser of trust property.

2009, c.T-23.01, s.18.

PART V
Vesting

Vesting

19(1) An instrument removing or appointing a trustee pursuant to section 15 may contain an express declaration that the trust property vests in one or more trustees, and that those trustees shall administer the trust, on and from:

- (a) the date of the instrument; or
- (b) any other date stated in the instrument for that purpose.

(2) If an instrument mentioned in subsection (1) does not contain an express declaration, it is an implied declaration in the instrument that the trust property vests in one or more trustees, and that those trustees shall administer the trust, on and from the date of the instrument.

(3) The vesting of trust property in trustees pursuant to this section has the same effect as if a vesting order had been made with respect to the trust property.

(4) Subject to The Land Titles Act, 2000, for the purposes of registration or transfer of title to any trust property, the instrument mentioned in subsection (1) or (2) is deemed to be conclusive evidence that the trust property has vested in the trustees named in the instrument.

(5) If a person ceases to be a trustee pursuant to subsection 15(3), the property ceases to be vested in that person.

(6) If a sole trustee ceases to be a trustee and a new trustee has not been appointed and there is no executor or property guardian, the trust property vests in the Public Guardian and Trustee until a new trustee is appointed.

2009, c.T-23.01, s.19.

Vesting orders

20(1) If the court is satisfied that it is in the best interests of a trust or its beneficiaries, the court may, on application, vest the trust property, or an interest in the trust property, in one or more persons in any manner, for any estate or interest and on any terms that the court considers appropriate.

(2) If an order pursuant to subsection (1) is consequential on the appointment or removal of a trustee pursuant to this Act, the court shall vest the trust property in the persons who, on the appointment or removal, are the trustees.

2009, c.T-23.01, s.20.

Effect of vesting

21 A vesting order made pursuant to this Act has the same effect as if the legal or other interest in the trust property had been actually transferred to the person in whom the trust property is to be vested.

2009, c.T-23.01, s.21.

Court orders re charity

22 The court may exercise the powers conferred by this Act for the purpose of vesting any property in the trustee of any charity over which the court would have jurisdiction on a duly instituted action.

2009, c.T-23.01, s.22.

Court may appoint person to convey, etc., trust property

23 If a vesting order may be made pursuant to this Act, the court may, instead of making that order, appoint a person to convey, assign or transfer the trust property to the person in whom the trust property would otherwise be vested by the order of the court.

2009, c.T-23.01, s.23.

PART VI

(2) Subsection (1) does not authorize a trustee to invest trust property in a manner that is inconsistent with the instrument creating the trust.

(3) In planning the investment of trust property, a trustee shall consider the following factors, in addition to any others that are relevant in the circumstances:

Investment diversity

26 A trustee shall diversify the investment of trust property to an extent that is appropriate having regard to:

- (a) the terms on which the trust property is held; and
- (b) general economic and investment market conditions.

2009, c.T-23.01, s.26.

Non-complying investments

- (a) the trust instrument; or
- (b) this Act.

2009, c.T-23.01, s.27.

Appointment of agents by trustees for certain purposes

28(1) In this section, “agent” includes an investment dealer, investment counsel or any other person to whom investment responsibility is delegated by a trustee.

(2) A trustee may delegate to an agent the degree of authority with respect to the investment of trust property that a reasonable and prudent investor would delegate in accordance with ordinary business practice.

(3) A trustee who delegates authority pursuant to subsection (2) shall exercise prudence and diligence in:

- (a) selecting the agent;
- (b) establishing the terms of the authority delegated; and
- (c) monitoring the performance of the agent to ensure compliance with the terms of the delegation.

(4) In performing a delegated function, an agent owes a duty to the trustee and to the beneficiaries of the trust to exercise reasonable care to comply with the terms of the delegation.

(5) A trustee who complies with subsection (3) is not liable for the decisions or actions of the agent to whom the authority was delegated.

(6) This section does not authorize a trustee to delegate authority if the terms of the trust expressly prohibit the trustee from delegating authority to make investments.

(7) Investment in a security issued by a mutual fund as defined in The Securities Act, 1988 or in a similar investment is not a delegation of authority with respect to the investment of trust property.

2009, c.T-23.01, s.28.

Investment advice

29(1) A trustee may obtain advice respecting the investment of trust property.

(2) A trustee is not in breach of trust for relying on advice obtained pursuant to subsection (1) if a reasonable and prudent investor would rely on the advice in comparable circumstances.

2009, c.T-23.01, s.31.

Investments to be in trustee's name

- (a) be registered in the trustee's name as the trustee for the particular trust for which the securities are held; and
- (b) clearly indicate that the funds are held in trust.

(2) Any securities mentioned in subsection (1) may be transferred only on the books of the corporation in the trustee's name as trustee for that trust property.

(3) Subsection (1) does not apply to a trustee that is a trust corporation and that holds a valid licence issued pursuant to The Trust and Loan Corporations Act, 1997.

2009, c.T-23.01, s.32.

Duty to act impartially

33(1) A trustee shall act impartially between income and capital beneficiaries, having regard to the trust property.

(2) The duty to act impartially mentioned in subsection (1) applies:

- (a) whatever the nature of the trust property; and
- (b) whether the trust property is an original asset or an asset acquired subsequently.

2009, c.T-23.01, s.33.

Apportionment of expenditures between income and capital beneficiaries

34(1) In this section, “outgoing” means payments and expenditures, whether paid or incurred by the trustee or a beneficiary, in administering the trust or trust property and, without limiting the foregoing, includes payments and expenditures arising from or made with respect to repairs, maintenance, insurance, taxes, security interests, debts, calls on shares, annuities and business and other losses.

(2) Subject to section 33, unless the trust instrument provides otherwise, the trustee:

(a) if he or she considers it to be just and equitable in all the circumstances and to be in accord with sound business practice and in the best interests of the beneficiaries of the trust as a whole, may:

- (i) apportion any outgoing between the income and capital accounts; or
- (ii) charge the outgoing exclusively to either income or capital;

(b) if the whole or part of the outgoing is made out of or charged to capital and if he or she considers it to be just and equitable in all the circumstances, may recoup income from capital; and

(c) may, and if ordered by the court on application shall, deduct from the income derived from trust property that is subject to depreciation or obsolescence those amounts that are fair and reasonable having regard to sound business practice in order to protect the capital of the trust from loss.

(3) For the purposes of clause (1)(c), the trustee shall set aside any amounts that are deducted and shall add those amounts to the capital of the trust so as to become capital for all purposes.

(4) This section does not apply to a trust for the exclusive benefit of the spouse of the testator or settlor, within the meaning of those terms as found in the Income Tax Act (Canada).

2009, c.T-23.01, s.34.

Discretionary allocation of receipts between income and capital

35(1) Subject to section 33, unless the trust instrument provides otherwise, the trustee shall allocate receipts to the income and capital accounts in any manner that he or she considers just and equitable in all the circumstances.

(2) For the purposes of this section and section 34 and for determining the relative proportionate interests of beneficiaries of the trust, but without limiting the powers conferred by subsection (1):

(a) income may be understood to be the return in money or property derived from the use of capital; and

(b) capital may be understood to be the property set aside by the trust instrument to be delivered eventually to the person who ultimately will become entitled to the property, while the return or use of the capital is in the meantime taken or received by or held for accumulation for an income beneficiary.

2009, c.T-23.01, s.35.

36(1) A trustee may:

(a) subject to Part XI of The Administration of Estates Act, sell trust property by public auction or private contract for cash or credit on appropriate security;

(b) dispose of trust property by way of exchange for other property, or if the trust property consists of an undivided share, concur in the partition of the property in which the share is held;

(d) grant an option to purchase land, or any easement, right, or privilege of any kind in relation to the land, including mining leases or other disposition of rights to mines and minerals;

(e) subject to Part XI of The Administration of Estates Act, enter into or renew a lease as lessee or lessor;
