Hail spot loss option

“11.4(1) An insured or applicant may elect to have hail spot loss insurance with respect to any crop for which he or she is insured at or below the 70% coverage level, other than a crop to which multiple crop averaging applies pursuant to section 11.5 or a crop insured under the diversification option pursuant to section 11.6.

(2) An election pursuant to subsection (1) is to be made on or before April 30 in each year.

(3) Coverage per acre for hail spot loss insurance is equal to the amount C calculated in accordance with the following formula:

$$C = Y \times L \times PO$$

where:

Y is the long term individual yield per acre of the insured crop, as determined by the corporation;

L is the coverage level for the crop; and PO is the price option for the crop.

(4) For the purposes of subsection (3), where an insured has chosen:

(a) the low fixed option for crop insurance, the coverage level for hail spot loss insurance is to be determined on the basis of the low fixed price option for the crop;

(b) the high fixed price option for crop insurance, the coverage level for hail spot loss insurance is to be determined on the basis of the high fixed price option for the crop;

(c) the market price option for crop insurance, the coverage level for hail spot loss insurance is to be determined on the basis of the high fixed price option for the crop.

(5) Notwithstanding section 12, the premium payable for hail spot loss insurance for a crop is equal to the amount PP calculated in accordance with the following formula:

$$PP = C \times R \times AI$$

where:

C is the coverage per acre calculated pursuant to subsection (3);

R is the premium rate for the crop determined by the corporation;

AI is the number of acres insured.

(6) The corporation may apply an experience discount determined by the corporation to the premium to be paid pursuant to subsection (5).

(7) Notwithstanding any other provision of these regulations or the contract of crop insurance, the corporation shall pay indemnity for hail spot loss to an insured following its determination of the percentage of the insured crop damaged by hail, in the amount I calculated in accordance with the following formula:

$$I = C \times D \times AD$$

where:

C is the coverage per acre calculated pursuant to subsection (3);

D is the percentage of damage; and

AD is the number of insured acres damaged.

(8) For the purposes of determining D in subsection (7):

(a) where the corporation determines that less than 5% of the insured crop has been damaged by hail, 0% of the crop is to be deemed to have been damaged; and

(b) where the corporation determines that more than 85% of the insured crop has been damaged by hail, 100% of the crop is to be deemed to have been damaged.

(9) Indemnities paid pursuant to subsection (7) shall be deducted from any subsequent indemnities payable under the contract of crop insurance for the same crop.

Multiple crop averaging

(5) Coverage per crop for multiple crop averaging is equal to the amount C calculated in accordance with the following formula:

$$C = Y \times L \times PO \times AI$$

where:

Y is the long term individual yield for the insured crop determined by the corporation;

L is the level of coverage elected by the insured;

PO is the price option elected by the insured; and

AI is the number of acres of the insured crop.

- (6) Total coverage under multiple crop averaging is equal to the sum of the coverage for all insured crops calculated pursuant to subsection (5).
- (7) The market price option is not available where the insured elects multiple crop averaging.
- (8) Notwithstanding section 12, the premium to be paid by an insured for multiple crop averaging is to be determined:
 - (a) by obtaining the premium for each crop by multiplying the coverage per acre by the premium rate determined by the corporation and by the number of acres insured of that crop; and
 - (b) by adding together the premiums obtained pursuant to clause (a), and multiplying the result by a reduction factor determined by the corporation.
- (9) The corporation may apply an experience discount determined by the corporation to the premium to be paid pursuant to subsection (8).
- (10) Notwithstanding any other provision of these regulations or the contract of crop insurance, the corporation shall pay indemnity to an insured who has elected multiple crop averaging where the total production for all insured crops, adjusted for quality, multiplied by the selected price option, falls below the total dollar coverage for all the insured crops.

Diversification option

- “11.6(1) Subject to subsection (2), an insured who has entered into a contract of insurance for grain crops or an applicant who has applied for a contract of insurance for grain crops may elect to insure under the diversification option crops that are listed in the schedule to the Crop Insurance Regulations (Canada) SOR/91-105, but that are not otherwise eligible for insurance pursuant to these regulations or the contract of insurance.
- (2) A crop is eligible for the diversification option only if, in the opinion of the corporation, the crop is agronomically viable for the area in which it is grown and has the potential to be produced in harvestable quantities in the year of insurance.
 - (3) An election pursuant to subsection (1) is to be made on or before April 30 in each year.
 - (4) Subject to subsections (7) and (8), an insured who enters into the diversification option must do so with respect to all crops he or she seeds that meet the criteria mentioned in subsections (1) and (2).
 - (5) The establishment benefit does not apply to crops to which the diversification option applies.
 - (6) For the purpose only of applying this section, crops that meet the criteria mentioned in subsections (1) and (2) are designated as “insurable crops” for the purposes of clause 2(g) of the Act.
 - (7) The maximum number of acres that an insured may elect to have the diversification option apply to is a number equal to 20% of the number of the acres of grain crops that he or she has insured.

(8) The minimum number of acres that an insured or applicant may elect to have the diversification option apply to is one acre.

(9) An insured shall indicate the crops seeded by the insured to which the diversification option applies in the seeded acreage report required pursuant to subsection 4(1) of the contract of crop insurance.

(10) Notwithstanding section 12, the premium to be paid per acre for the diversification option is an amount equal to the average premium per acre paid by the insured for crop insurance for grain crops, excluding payments for hail spot loss insurance.

(11) Crops insured under the diversification option are not eligible for the hail spot loss option pursuant to section 11.4.

(12) An insured who elects to participate in multiple crop averaging may participate in the diversification option.

(13) Where an insured participates in both multiple crop averaging and the diversification option, the premiums for the diversification option are to be calculated after the premiums for multiple crop averaging are calculated.

(14) Notwithstanding any other provision of these regulations or the contract of crop insurance, the corporation shall pay indemnity to an insured for crops insured under the diversification option in an amount per acre that is equal to the average amount per acre of indemnity paid to the insured pursuant to the crop insurance program for grain crops, excluding payments for hail spot loss”.
